MEHER SRA OUT ON TOWN

SWEDISH ON HER MOTHER'S side and Punjabi on her father's, Meher Sra, who co-founded her jewellery label Atelier Mon with her mother in Delhi two years ago, is one of the best-dressed regulars on Delhi's party circuit. In her 20s, her signature dressing style revolves around dresses for most evenings out—and gowns for grander affairs and events—all highlighted by a single statement piece of jewellery. "It's something that works instantly."

Currently, she is into Gaurav Gupta's draped gowns that she especially loves wearing to pre-wedding functions like a sangeet. "It's slightly unexpected, right? Because everybody is wearing Indian. And nothing makes you feel as fabulous as a gown does." She also likes Gauri & Nainika for the simplicity and construction of their dresses. For shoes, she goes to Alexander McQueen. "I love their bright, bold designs, and will opt to wear a simpler gown if I have to just so my McQueen shoes can take precedence," she says. She also shops at Manolo Blahnik. "His shoes have a lovely structure, very slimming, and they are by far the most comfortable shoes around." To finish the look, she chooses one or two pieces from her own line of semiprecious jewellery. "It ties the look together." With individually beautiful pieces paired together for maximum impact and minimal fuss, Sra is ready to go out and conquer the town. ■
